The health and safety of our participants, volunteers, partners, spectators, staff and community is always our top priority. Keeping that priority in mind, we encourage everyone to remain diligent with practicing common preventative actions and following appropriate health guidelines, as recommended by the CDC.gov.

Going forward, we will continue to monitor this rapidly changing situation with the direction of our local and state officials. Any updates to our events will be posted on runsociaatlanta.com/events and communicated via all channels possible.

Answers to questions you may have:

How do I know if I am registered for an event?

All registered participants will have an email confirmation of their registration. If you registered on site at the ATL Race Signing Day event, your confirmation would have been received between 1/5 - 1/12. If you registered online, your confirmation would have been received immediately after you registered.

How will the deferral work?

If you are currently registered for one of the cancelled 2020 Run Social Race Series events listed above, your registration will be deferred to the 2021 version of that event. You will receive an email invite and a comp code to register for that same event once registration opens.

I would like to request a partial refund for my registration(s).

Partial refund request were offered to participants through October 1st 2020 . Refund requests are no longer available.

I have read this entire document and I still have questions that have not been addressed!

Please send a kind message to runningnerds@gmail.com.

Message from runningnerds Founder and Race Director Tes Sobomehin Marshall:

runningnerds encourages you to BE KIND TO YOUR RACES! I am an active running community member. All of my upcoming race events were cancelled (bummed). I lead a group run each week where there are genuine concerns over whether we should or should not meet each week. I ran a world major last year and COULD NOT IMAGINE how disappointing or life altering it would have been for it to be cancelled or postponed.

At the same time, I am an event & race organizer. runningnerds, LLC is my small business of which I am the only employee and dozens of businesses and part time staff rely on our participant interest for their livelihood. Yes, this is the business I chose fully understanding the risks involved with being an entrepreneur & business owner. Honestly, most days, I pinch myself that this is what I get to do "for a living" and am constantly grateful and humble for the opportunity.

With that said....I ask each and every runner/walker/volunteer reading this statement to BE KIND TO YOUR RACES!

- Remember, everyone is in a tough position. These are unprecedented times and NO ONE would have every imagined this scenario.*
- Respect the no refund policy if that is what you agreed to during registration.*
- You love the sport, so take a long-term view of your role in ensuring the financial survival of your community-owned events.*
- Please do not harm your race of choice by doing charge backs and demanding a refund if the race has a no refund policy. This hurts the long-term survival of an event you hope to run one day.*
- Keep in mind local events are just like small businesses in your community, your support will be critical to their survival.*
- If you are absolutely not able to forgo your race registration fee, give the event organizer an opportunity to handle your situation on a case by case basis. Email them directly, be kind, be patient on a reply, and I believe most event directors will be sensitive to extenuating circumstances as we hope you are sensitive to ours. At least, I know I would (with the above points sincerely considered ;)*

Thank you all for reading and I hope the runningnerdnation (that's you) will be an example of KINDNESS in this interesting time!
